

SOCIETY

Mrs. E. A. Saunders, Jr., and her daughter and son, Miss Mary Ball Saunders and Richard E. Saunders, have returned to their home, 604 West Franklin Street. Mrs. Saunders and her family have been spending the past two months in the North, having been for some time on the Massachusetts coast and also in the lake country of New York.

Spend Winter Here.
Mrs. Douglas Forrest, of Washington, has recently come to Richmond and will spend the fall and winter months at the Chesterfield with Miss Jane Rutherford. Mrs. Forrest, who was formerly Miss Sally Rutherford, is a widow of Dr. Douglas Forrest, the distinguished Episcopal rector, of Cincinnati and Washington, and has a great many friends and relatives in this city.

Chautauque.
An interesting charity affair of Saturday, October 21, will be the golf luncheon given by the Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Westhampton. The entertainment will be given at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Witherspoon, on the Three Chop Road, near the Country Club stop.

The officers of the guild are Mrs. Edward J. Willis, president; Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, first vice-president; Mrs. Thomas W. Purcell, second vice-president; Mrs. J. Hampton Chamberlayne, secretary; Mrs. Thomas L. Moore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. A. Witherspoon, treasurer.

Those assisting at the affair will be Mrs. Jennings C. Wise, Mrs. John Leary, Mrs. John Skelton Williams, Mrs. Charles E. Whitlock, Jr., Mrs. George L. Street, Jr., Mrs. St. George Anderson, Mrs. Annie Ball, Mrs. Harry Beattie, Mrs. Karl Blackwell, Mrs. Churchill G. Chamberlayne, Mrs. J. S. Davenport, Mrs. Julien Gunn, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Miss Isabella Harrison, Mrs. Frank Hobson, Mrs. Conway Knox, Mrs. T. A. Miller, Mrs. Malvern Patterson, Mrs. Pizzini, Mrs. Charles Ruffin, Mrs. Paul Shaffer, Mrs. George Warren, Mrs. Nell D. Sims, Mrs. H. A. Smith, Mrs. R. C. Storrance, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Robert Talley, Mrs. Terrell, Mrs. George Tower, Mrs. Randolph Tucker, Mrs. Gordon Wallace, Mrs. Lewis C. Williams, Mrs. Bernard Robb, Mrs. C. E. Robinson, Mrs. Hugh Taylor and Mrs. George Hall.

Invitations Out.
Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Barclay, of Lawrenceville, for the marriage of their daughter, Marguerite, to Jack Shell. The wedding will take place at the Lawrenceville Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, October 24, at 6 o'clock.

Quiet Wedding.
The marriage of Miss Hazel Blanche Thorpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Thorpe, of this city, and John Joseph Reinhardt, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Reinhardt, also of Richmond, was celebrated quietly at noon yesterday at the Second Presbyterian Church. Rev. Russell Cecil D. D. officiating. Only members of the immediate families were present, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was a going-away gown of dark blue broadcloth with no fur trimmings, and hat and gloves to match, and she wore a corsage bouquet of lavender orchids. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt left to spend their honeymoon in the North, and on their return will make their home at 2405 Grove Avenue.

Reck-Hilliard.
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hilliard have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Mamie Frances, to Hunter Bernard Reck. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride's parents, on October 26, at 7 o'clock.

Prominent Wedding.
Of interest here is the wedding of Dandridge Sale and Miss Sarah Pannett Baird, daughter of Captain E. H. Baird, both of Occoquan, Essex County, which took place in St. George's Episcopal church in Fredericksburg on Tuesday at noon. Rev. S. S. Ware, of Port Royal, assisted by Rev. J. J. Lanier, rector of the church, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Richarda Baylor, and Charles Sale, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride, who wore a blue traveling suit, was given in marriage by her brother, E. H. Baird, of Norfolk. Among those from a distance were: Misses Elizabeth and Lella Baird, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Lewis, of Tappahannock; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Baird, of Warsaw; Mrs. Agnes Segar, of Warsaw; Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Shaw, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sale, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. Latane Sale, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baird, of Norfolk; Captain William Fitzhugh, of Urbanna; Welby Beverley, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beverley, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Taylor, of Essex; Leslie C. Barnett, of Richmond; James Parker, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dickenson, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, of Essex; Mr. and Mrs. Ametoad Warsaw, of Warsaw; and William A. Jones, of Warsaw.

Approaching Marriage.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ganzert have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Nellie Collins, to William Pierce Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren Hay. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride's parents, on October 25.

Marriage Announced.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bolton, of this city, announce the marriage of their

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15-mile hike from Fort Bliss, weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching. Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I awoke the next morning feeling fine; in fact, I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as easy as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment. Easily applied, without rubbing. At all drugists, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

Soan's Liniment KILLS PAIN

daughter, Glenice, to Robert Norvell. The ceremony took place in Petersburg on October 8.

Married in Baltimore.
The marriage of Miss Gertrude Lee Pilkinton and Thomas Newton Kidd was celebrated in Baltimore on October 5 in the parlors of Dr. J. C. Nicholson, pastor of the Harlem Place Methodist Church. The wedding was a very quiet one, and the ring used was the same used at the marriage of the bride's great grandmother.

Several affairs were given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kidd in Baltimore and Washington, and they will be at home after October 15 at 1708 Fendall Avenue, North Richmond.

Leap Year Dance.
William F. Staudt and Neil W. Reardon will give a leap year dance this evening at 9 o'clock at Chief's Academy, corner of Harrison and Broad Streets.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN.
Miss Emily Lyman, who is spending the month of October in Norfolk, will take part in the golf tournament this October 20.

Miss Elizabeth Owen, of this city, has been spending several days with friends in Henderson, N. C.

Mrs. John Antrim, of Roanoke, is the guest of her mother in Richmond for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh C. Smith, of Baltimore, will attend the Carrington home wedding here next week.

Mrs. Charles B. Ball is at 112 West Avenue with Miss Lucy Lily Temple for the winter months.

Mrs. J. L. Blackburn and her son, of Kenbridge, are visiting Mrs. D. S. Kennedy, at 402 West Grace Street.

Miss Louise Watkins has returned to Richmond, after a visit to her sister, Miss Emily Watkins, in Newport News.

Mrs. Churchill Graves has returned to her home in Roanoke, after spending some time in New York, Virginia Beach and Richmond.

Miss Mary K. Eastman, of Baltimore, is visiting friends in Newport News this week, before coming to Richmond, where she will spend the winter with relatives.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS.
Miss Katharine H. Hawes will conduct a Bible study class at the Gospel of St. John at the Y. W. C. A. for several weeks. The first meeting of this class takes place to-night at 8 o'clock.

Williamson-Taylor.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
DANVILLE, Va., October 11.—Miss Martha Johnston Taylor, daughter of Mrs. William L. Taylor, and James Leander Williamson, of Charlotte, N. C., were married here this afternoon by Rev. E. R. Laird, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was attended by a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Mary Cook, of Danville, was maid of honor, and Beryl Foxville, of Burlington, N. C., best man.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not wash away impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Adv.

Corsages Bouquets

Let Us Have Standing Order.
We are now booking standing orders for Corsages & Bouquets to be delivered on specified days each week. All orders receive prompt and careful attention and are filled from flowers of absolute freshness.

Phone Mad. 6081. We guarantee that you'll be satisfied.

Ratcliffe & Tanner
"We Grow the Flowers We Sell"
207 North Sixth Street.

Have You Seen the Newly Patented Perforated Oven Floor in the GARLAND GAS RANGE?
IT'S GREAT.
Central Furniture Co., Inc.,
7 and 9 West Broad Street.

THE GRIP OF EVIL

BY LOUIS TRACY.
Author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," "The Terms of Surrender," "Number 17," Etc.
Novelized from the Series of Photographs of the Same Name Released by the FBI.
(Copyright, 1916, by Louis Tracy.)
Everything you read here you can see this week at the book.

SYNOPSIS FOR FIFTH DAY.
John Burton, tried and notorious, seeking an answer to the question, "Is it really the Grip of Evil?" is lured to the headquarters of the Hell-Cats, a notorious east side gang, by Blanche Griffin, its valet, and the aid of Bill Kelly, a reformed criminal, who has made the same mistake as the others. The reformed criminal does good work in helping Burton and his associates escape from the police. The master criminal had come off on the best of terms with the "Grip."

Of course, he was able to gain a slight respite by reason of his knowledge of the familiar, but intricate, turns in the Settlement Building. Thus, he dashed into the office used by Miss Grace Cox a few seconds in advance of the police. The girl looked up with an air of surprise, since her trusted assistant was not in the habit of entering so unceremoniously.

"Don't ask me to explain now, miss," he panted brokenly. "I'll make everything clear in a minute or two. Hide me from the police. Tell them I'm not here. It's all right, miss, it's really."

He could say no more. The girl had decided in an instant, but she placed implicit trust in the man, and bade him take a cloak and some spare clothing in case of bad weather.

(To be continued.)

So he deliberately headed off the latter in their pursuit of the major portion of the gang, and drew them to a trap-door opening onto a flat roof, a means of escape which he had often used in his unregenerate days.

It is not to be denied that something of the fearful joy which attaches itself to daring crime pulsed once more in Kelly's veins as he fled with the bounds of the law's yelping on his heels. He followed a familiar path. At the end of a sloping roof he knew he would find a raised balustrade which would check an otherwise inevitable descent into the street far beneath. From the flat top of the cornice it was possible to spring across an alley to the roof of the nearest house, and thence climb, catlike, among a forest of chimneys to a well-remembered fire escape.

Reilly was slightly out of condition, but his nerve was steady as ever, and he took that spectacular leap through midair with all his old confidence. He hung back purposely until the hand of the nearest policeman was actually outstretched to clutch him. He counted altogether on the fact that the men would balk at that unerring jump, because, such is the force of imagination, the average individual will falter in a spring high up above the ground which would not demand any display of courage or resolution if taken on terra firma.

In one respect, however, Reilly's calculations were not really correct. How thoroughly the patrolman called on by the valet had organized his forces to surround the building. Not only were policemen on every corner, but were stationed at every exit from the Hell-Cats' headquarters, but vedettes occupied strategic points on every possible line of retreat. So Reilly's daring leap was noted, and he was developed by others who had not been called on to negotiate that ugly-looking chasm.

The fugitive contrived to get down his favorite fire escape only to find the pack in full cry behind him. He ran.

the policemen ran, a gathering crowd tailed in behind, and so a veritable mob swarmed around the Settlement when Kelly dashed through its hospitable portals.

It was now hopelessly out of the question that he should stop and explain. He must carry through the predicament to the bitter end, because a hundred pairs of eyes would eagerly devour every phase of the capture and a hundred tongues retell the astounding fact that this master criminal had come off on the best of terms with the "Grip."

Of course, he was able to gain a slight respite by reason of his knowledge of the familiar, but intricate, turns in the Settlement Building. Thus, he dashed into the office used by Miss Grace Cox a few seconds in advance of the police. The girl looked up with an air of surprise, since her trusted assistant was not in the habit of entering so unceremoniously.

"Don't ask me to explain now, miss," he panted brokenly. "I'll make everything clear in a minute or two. Hide me from the police. Tell them I'm not here. It's all right, miss, it's really."

He could say no more. The girl had decided in an instant, but she placed implicit trust in the man, and bade him take a cloak and some spare clothing in case of bad weather.

(To be continued.)

So he deliberately headed off the latter in their pursuit of the major portion of the gang, and drew them to a trap-door opening onto a flat roof, a means of escape which he had often used in his unregenerate days.

It is not to be denied that something of the fearful joy which attaches itself to daring crime pulsed once more in Kelly's veins as he fled with the bounds of the law's yelping on his heels. He followed a familiar path. At the end of a sloping roof he knew he would find a raised balustrade which would check an otherwise inevitable descent into the street far beneath. From the flat top of the cornice it was possible to spring across an alley to the roof of the nearest house, and thence climb, catlike, among a forest of chimneys to a well-remembered fire escape.

Reilly was slightly out of condition, but his nerve was steady as ever, and he took that spectacular leap through midair with all his old confidence. He hung back purposely until the hand of the nearest policeman was actually outstretched to clutch him. He counted altogether on the fact that the men would balk at that unerring jump, because, such is the force of imagination, the average individual will falter in a spring high up above the ground which would not demand any display of courage or resolution if taken on terra firma.

In one respect, however, Reilly's calculations were not really correct. How thoroughly the patrolman called on by the valet had organized his forces to surround the building. Not only were policemen on every corner, but were stationed at every exit from the Hell-Cats' headquarters, but vedettes occupied strategic points on every possible line of retreat. So Reilly's daring leap was noted, and he was developed by others who had not been called on to negotiate that ugly-looking chasm.

The fugitive contrived to get down his favorite fire escape only to find the pack in full cry behind him. He ran.

the policemen ran, a gathering crowd tailed in behind, and so a veritable mob swarmed around the Settlement when Kelly dashed through its hospitable portals.

It was now hopelessly out of the question that he should stop and explain. He must carry through the predicament to the bitter end, because a hundred pairs of eyes would eagerly devour every phase of the capture and a hundred tongues retell the astounding fact that this master criminal had come off on the best of terms with the "Grip."

Of course, he was able to gain a slight respite by reason of his knowledge of the familiar, but intricate, turns in the Settlement Building. Thus, he dashed into the office used by Miss Grace Cox a few seconds in advance of the police. The girl looked up with an air of surprise, since her trusted assistant was not in the habit of entering so unceremoniously.

"Don't ask me to explain now, miss," he panted brokenly. "I'll make everything clear in a minute or two. Hide me from the police. Tell them I'm not here. It's all right, miss, it's really."

He could say no more. The girl had decided in an instant, but she placed implicit trust in the man, and bade him take a cloak and some spare clothing in case of bad weather.

(To be continued.)

So he deliberately headed off the latter in their pursuit of the major portion of the gang, and drew them to a trap-door opening onto a flat roof, a means of escape which he had often used in his unregenerate days.

It is not to be denied that something of the fearful joy which attaches itself to daring crime pulsed once more in Kelly's veins as he fled with the bounds of the law's yelping on his heels. He followed a familiar path. At the end of a sloping roof he knew he would find a raised balustrade which would check an otherwise inevitable descent into the street far beneath. From the flat top of the cornice it was possible to spring across an alley to the roof of the nearest house, and thence climb, catlike, among a forest of chimneys to a well-remembered fire escape.

Reilly was slightly out of condition, but his nerve was steady as ever, and he took that spectacular leap through midair with all his old confidence. He hung back purposely until the hand of the nearest policeman was actually outstretched to clutch him. He counted altogether on the fact that the men would balk at that unerring jump, because, such is the force of imagination, the average individual will falter in a spring high up above the ground which would not demand any display of courage or resolution if taken on terra firma.

In one respect, however, Reilly's calculations were not really correct. How thoroughly the patrolman called on by the valet had organized his forces to surround the building. Not only were policemen on every corner, but were stationed at every exit from the Hell-Cats' headquarters, but vedettes occupied strategic points on every possible line of retreat. So Reilly's daring leap was noted, and he was developed by others who had not been called on to negotiate that ugly-looking chasm.

The fugitive contrived to get down his favorite fire escape only to find the pack in full cry behind him. He ran.

the policemen ran, a gathering crowd tailed in behind, and so a veritable mob swarmed around the Settlement when Kelly dashed through its hospitable portals.

It was now hopelessly out of the question that he should stop and explain. He must carry through the predicament to the bitter end, because a hundred pairs of eyes would eagerly devour every phase of the capture and a hundred tongues retell the astounding fact that this master criminal had come off on the best of terms with the "Grip."

Of course, he was able to gain a slight respite by reason of his knowledge of the familiar, but intricate, turns in the Settlement Building. Thus, he dashed into the office used by Miss Grace Cox a few seconds in advance of the police. The girl looked up with an air of surprise, since her trusted assistant was not in the habit of entering so unceremoniously.

"Don't ask me to explain now, miss," he panted brokenly. "I'll make everything clear in a minute or two. Hide me from the police. Tell them I'm not here. It's all right, miss, it's really."

He could say no more. The girl had decided in an instant, but she placed implicit trust in the man, and bade him take a cloak and some spare clothing in case of bad weather.

(To be continued.)

BUYS TOP OF PEAK OF OTTER

Bedford Syndicate Plans to Provide Adequate Hotel Facilities.
LYNCHBURG, Va., October 11.—According to a report from Bedford County, a Bedford syndicate has purchased the top of one of the Peaks of Otter, and larger hotel facilities are to be provided there for summer seasons. The question of improving the road up the mountain also is said to be under consideration.

The property formerly belonged to the Miller estate, of Baltimore. The new owners are Walter L. Lyle, T. J. Richardson, Hunter Miller and William Ballard, of Bedford, and Dr. Benjamin Rice, of Forest.

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW

Dose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel malvates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel to-day you'll be sick and nauseated to-morrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Advertisement.

Excursion to New York

$13.00 Round Trip.
Including Meals and Stateroom Berth on O. D. Steamer.

Old Dominion Line Annual Personally Conducted Excursion will leave Richmond via C. & O. Railway Saturday, October 14th, 4 P. M. Tickets good for ten days. Secure steamer and hotel reservations company's ticket office, 807 East Main Street.

Office Supplies

We're ready to take your order now for Blank Books, Stationery, Filing Equipment, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Typewriter Supplies, Card Indexes, and everything used in the office.

Get "Virstaco" Quality
—It costs no more, but it means better satisfaction, all ways! Stop in and look over our big stock—or 'phone—and our man will call with samples and prices.

VIRGINIA Stationery Co., Inc.

Stationers, Engravers, Printers and Bookbinders
To Those Who Know.
213 EAST MAIN STREET.

THE KAUFMANN STORE

Speaking About Coats

Let These Speak for Themselves

TEN DOLLARS is the price of this one—a model in Velours, with stunning large collar, extremely smart, worn funnel effect or to be left open and flat; trimmed generously in Mole Plush. This Coat has full back and belted front, large patch pockets and cuffs; shown in green, brown and navy. The most exceptional value we found on the wholesale market—$10.00.

Now Comes a Trio at $15.00

It is our deliberate belief that these values are not to be duplicated. Their swagger lines and the remarkably fine materials suggest rather the coat of $20.00 and $25.00. And in this assertion there is not a whit of exaggeration.

No. 1 Very full flare loose Top-Coat of American Velours, set on yoke at back, giving swagger new pointed shoulder effect. Extra large Medici collar, to be worn open or funnel. The two-tone buttons, sizable patch pockets and deep cuffs lend the finishing swagger touches. In Balsam Green, Java Brown and Navy—$15.00.

No. 2 In a deep pile Camel's Hair comes this novelty stripe Sport Coat, short, flaring and swagger, in tan and impressionist blue. The collar, cuffs and bottom edge are trimmed generously in Beaverette. A model which fairly pulsates with young life—$15.00.

No. 3 Contract purchases early in the summer explain our position in the Plush Coat field. Not ever before in our merchandising experience have we been able to offer such values in plush.

One model admirable for semi-dress is designed with belted back and has large flat collar, which may be worn, buttoned high; full lined and of a very rich, black, seal-like plush—$15.00.

Also, Quality American Velour Cloths, trimmed in Beaverette; various models, $15.00.

Domestic and imported Velours, Bolivias and Novelty fabrics, with and without fur to trim. Up from $20.00.

"CAROLIN" $8.00
Recommended by Physicians.

SEYMOUR CYCLE
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN
FOOTWEAR
11 WEST BROAD ST.

Kessler's
STYLES OF TOMORROW—SHOWN TODAY
122 East Broad Street
LOWEST PRICES

Welcome Visitors

In issuing this broadcast invitation to the visitors of the Virginia State Fair, we do so hoping to assist Richmond in making the visit of every one who comes to our city one of pleasure and comfort. You do not make these trips often, and you should get all the pleasure out of them possible. Our beautiful parlors and rest rooms are open to you.

For reasons unavoidable we will have no booth at the State Fair Grounds this year, but will keep our doors open to you at our downtown store, No. 205 EAST BROAD STREET, where you will be offered every comfort possible, and we shall deem it a pleasure to have you with us. And, by the way, should you be interested in a Piano while in Richmond, our large stock is open for your inspection. We will also offer some special inducements during Fair Week.

We have a number of excellent bargains to offer during Fair Week, and as a FURTHER INDUCEMENT, ANY ONE BUYING A PIANO FROM US DURING FAIR WEEK WILL HAVE THEIR RAILROAD FARE RETURNED TO THEM.

We are special factory representatives for the entire State of Virginia and North Carolina for the famous JESSE FRENCH & SONS, LAGONDA, CONTINENTAL and JEFFERSON PIANOS and PLAYER-PIANOS. We also carry everything musical from the late popular music to the best classical goods, Musical Merchandise, etc.

COLONIAL PIANO CORPORATION

205 East Broad Street
W. C. MIZELLE, Manager RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

SOME OF OUR BARGAINS FOR FAIR WEEK

One Kranich & Bach.....$67	One Ludlow.....$145
One Conover.....$297	One Kingsley.....$147
One Harmonist Player.....$349	One Lagonda.....$225

Thalhimer Brothers

New Top Coats
For the Junior Miss, Small Woman and Child of 2 to 6 Years

Coats for the College Girl of 15 and 17 Years at $12.50

Shown in Heavy Bolivia Velour, Fancy Mixtures, Chevilles, etc. Some have Astrakhan collars and cuffs, patch pockets, full and semi-belted; full swag effects.

Other Attractive Coats for the 15 and 17-Year Girl at $8.50.

Coats for the Girl of 2 to 9 Years at $2.98 and $3.48

In fancy mixture, patch pockets, some belted. Other models of zibelines, corduroy and fancy mixtures.
At $4.98 to $6.98.
2 to 6 and 7 to 11-year sizes.
Other stylish Coats for these ages up to $12.50.

Coats for the Junior Miss of 15 and 17 at $20.00

Fur-trimmed collar and cuffs. Shown in fine quality zibeline, also handsome Broadcloth Coats offered at the above price. These are the newest, very nifty models.

Elegant Wedding Gifts

This old established house is HEADQUARTERS FOR WEDDING GIFTS, and they are receiving daily many new and exclusive designs and patterns of beautiful Sterling Silver, at prices more reasonable than ever before.

The Nowlan Company

Leading Jewelers,
921 EAST MAIN STREET.

A Great Diversity of DISTINGUISHED FASHIONS
providing ample latitude for the selection of really exclusive attire.

ORIGINAL CREATIONS PARIS MODELS
Maison
Schwartz
FURRIERS
3 1/2 East Broad Street

INSURE THE HEALTH OF YOUR Family by Installing an ISKO UNIT In Your Home

See our demonstration at the Virginia Rwy. and Powder Bldg. Ninth and Franklin Streets.

LEE & HARRISON
601 Times-Dispatch Building,
Richmond, Va.